Brisbane's newest hotel

Decided to test out the roof top bar at the brand new Limes Hotel in Constance Street, Fortitude Valley on Thursday night. It's on the north side of St Pauls Terrace, just a short walk from the Valley proper. The roof top bar is very sexy with lots of fluro lighting and cute little cabanas that come complete with a

CAN'T LIVE WITHOUT (THIS WEEK)

* Dairy Farmers thick and creamy Country Vanilla Cream yoghurt sprinkled with Vineyard Cottages Toasted Muesli. An almost guilt free dessert!

* New England Larder Sour Cherry Jam on thick, hot toast.

NEVER WANT TO HAVE IT AGAIN.

*Coffee Club Paddington Iced Chocolate drink- sent it back. How hard is it to make a great iced chocolate?

*Not going back for another $9 muffin. More on this soon.

couple of cosy rugs for the cool weather. We sampled two cocktails which the obliging bar tender made up to suit our on the spot whims. They were delicious, but at $18.50 each our next drinks will be standard mixers.

The other side of the roof top has an open air cinema which would be a great place for a gathering or function. In fact the whole floor would be a very cool party venue.

We had a peek through one of the compact but very well appointed rooms. The complimentary Dello Mano brownies are sure to be a big hit with guests. The hotel has 21 rooms.

Kerry Heaney

Food and travel writer and Principal, Heaney Ink.

I love to write about food and wine but enjoy partaking in them even more. I have travelled widely throughout Australia sampling the cuisine and have a penchant for bush tucker, including crocodile, but refuse to eat possum (too cute and cuddly).

My knowledge of Queensland's restaurant scene was fuelled by research for the Queensland and Northern Territory sections of the 2007 Food and Wine Atlas of Australia. I write on food for
